Media Take, Series 3 Episode 12

Sunday 5 June 2016

Blocked Plug-in

Russell and Toi look at Māori in the media from film and television to theatre. Dave Gibson and Tearepa Kahi give their opinions on Māori filmmaking. A recent report from NZ On Air shows women and non-Pākehā are under-represented in NZ Television production. Libby Hakaraia and Victor Rodger discuss this issue. Regan Taylor joins us to talk about the freedom of expression to tell stories on the stage from a Māori view.
